

Coggno Adds Exciting New Authors and Courses to Its Online Training Library

New Authors and Courses on Coggno's Vast Online Training Library

March 4, 2014 - SAN JOSE, Calif. -- (San Jose, CA, November 18, 2013) Coggno, the Internet's most comprehensive source for online training courses for businesses and individuals, announces its partnership with a new group of authors, adding exciting new additions to its vast online training course library.

As word spreads about the convenience and affordability of online training, course authors have been clamoring to make their offerings available through Coggno. New authors include DeltinaU, SimonSezIT, EducateVirtually, and Bigger Brains. The course topics offer a wide variety of choices including IT training, Social Media basics, data security, and project management professional training. These are some of the most sought-after courses, giving businesses and individuals the opportunity to gain new skills without having to set foot in a classroom. All of Coggno's online training titles can be accessed from laptops, PCs, smart phones and tablets. Moreover, businesses can tailor their own learning management systems to give all their employees the opportunity to benefit from online training without having to sacrifice productivity. Instead of shuttling employees off to costly off-site seminars, they can complete coursework in the office or at home.

"I am so pleased to be able to feature courses from such prestigious names in the online training community," Coggno CEO Tod Browndorf said from his San Jose office. "Our goal is to give everyone the opportunity to obtain the skills they need to succeed, and these courses will pave the way for more exciting and lucrative opportunities. The world changes so quickly these days, and we're doing our part to keep pace with it."

Coggno gives content creators the ability to share their courses with a larger audience, giving online learning greater exposure in the changing world of education.
